

Greenbaum to Sponsor New Jersey Food & Beverage Forum for Tenth Year

Greenbaum, Rowe, Smith & Davis LLP is pleased to be a sponsor of the 2024 Food & Beverage Forum, which will be held on Wednesday, September 18, 2024, from 5:30pm - 8:30pm at the Maplewood Country Club. The firm will serve as the sole law firm sponsor of this annual event for the tenth time.

Presented by Forvis Mazars, this evening of in-person networking showcases emerging companies and features a panel of food & beverage industry professionals for a presentation on best practices. This year's panelists will be Brian Choi (Managing Partner & CEO, The Food Institute), Josh Gellert (President, Camerican International), Pam Ofri (Director of Own Brands, Wakefern Food Corp.) and Mike Sainsbury (Head of Strategic Food, Market Performance Group).

Greenbaum's portfolio of legal services for food & beverage industry clients is comprehensive, and includes representation in corporate matters, real estate transactions, redevelopment projects, solar energy initiatives, and business disputes and related litigation.

This invitation-only event is open exclusively to individuals who are directly involved in a food & beverage company or engaged in a support industry peripheral to food & beverage, such as transportation and supply chain, warehousing and storage, or packaging and marketing. If you are interested in attending, additional information about registration is available on the Forvis Mazars website.
