How to Effectively Prevent Construction Disputes: Practical Tips and Strategies Explored

Steven Nudelman, a partner in the firm's Litigation Department, will be on the faculty for the live webinar "How to Effectively Prevent Construction Disputes: Practical Tips and Strategies Explored," to be presented by The Knowledge Group on Wednesday, March 31, 2021 from 12:00pm - 1:30pm.

Disputes on the scope of work, defects, and timeliness often arise in construction and over the years, these disputes have evolved into more complex challenges posing greater problems to project owners and contractors. Although settled through mediation, arbitration, or trial, construction disputes can often be expensive and time-consuming.

To minimize costs and delays brought by construction disputes, project participants should create a comprehensive and firm plan where contractors and owners are proactively involved in resolving issues before they lead to disputes. Successfully employing this can also help to effectively prevent such disputes in the long run.

This presentation will provide an in-depth analysis of recent trends and developments in construction disputes. Key issues to be addressed include:

Mr. Nudelman concentrates his practice in construction law and the representation of members of the construction industry across a broad spectrum of matters. His clients include owners, contractors, design professionals, subcontractors and suppliers involved in public and private construction projects throughout New Jersey. He also represents community associations, unit owners and developers in lawsuits involving construction defects, budgeting and financing issues, and condominium governance.

Additional program details and registration can be found on The Knowledge Group's website.
