

What Employers Should Know about Marijuana, COVID and More...

Jemi Goulian Lucey, a partner in the firm's Employment Law, Litigation and Healthcare Departments, will be a presenter for the live employment law webinar "What Employers Should Know about Marijuana, COVID and More..." which will be hosted by the New Jersey Builders Association (NJBA) on Tuesday, June 21, 2022 from 9:30am - 10:30am.

The past few years have brought many changes related to the COVID-19 pandemic including new health and safety guidelines, testing, leave, remote work and much more. Additionally, New Jersey has revamped its medical marijuana program and stood up a recreational cannabis industry. As this new industry unfolds and as the state simultaneously emerges from the health crisis, employers need to be aware of their responsibilities in the workplace. The panel of attorneys presenting this webinar will discuss how employers can keep up with the latest employment practices.

Ms. Lucey is a trial attorney who focuses her practice on employment, higher education and professional negligence matters. She represents private and public entities, including institutions of higher learning, in employment discrimination and retaliation actions, professional negligence cases, Title IX claims, and business disputes. She also lectures and consults on employment and human resources law and provides guidance related to the practical implications of various state and federal laws affecting employers.

Additional details and program registration on the NJBA website.

Related Attorneys

