- Complex divorce cases
- Valuation of closely held businesses in relation to alimony in high-net-worth divorces
- Analysis of equitable distribution issues

Frank is a family law attorney with five decades of experience in the negotiation and litigation of economically complex divorce cases. He has deep expertise in the resolution of challenging valuation and alimony issues in high-net-worth cases and is broadly recognized as a preeminent member of the New Jersey family law bar.

Frank represents clients in all aspects of divorce including asset distribution, child support and alimony, with the goal of achieving a negotiated result but, when required, a fair result after trial. His experience encompasses the valuation of closely held businesses, the sophisticated analysis of equitable distribution issues, and the arbitration and mediation of complex economic cases.

His emphasis is on problem-solving and attaining beneficial outcomes by using creative approaches to achieve his clients' goals, structuring agreements that are designed to eliminate future litigation and provide finality.

Frank is the co-author of New Jersey Family Law Volume II: Divorce, Alimony & Property Division, a recognized treatise cited as authoritative by New Jersey courts and lawyers.
